BIG SENSATION IN SENATORIAL RACE

Candidate Davis Alleges Brooks, Henry, Colquitt and Campbell Have Not Complied With Law.

Waco, Texas, June 16.—John Davis, candidate for the United States senate, has started something that is liable to make interesting history. In a statement in a Dallas paper Thursday he claims that Samuel Palmer Brooks, R. L. Henry, O. B. Colquitt, George W. Riddle and Thomas Mitchell Campbell have failed to comply with the law in regard to filing campaign expenses with the clerks of the counties in which they reside.

Mr. Davis says he has certificates from the clerk of McLennan County to the effect that Dr. Brooks filed no expense accounts whatever until June 12, and that Mr. Henry only filed five statements instead of 12.

County Clerk John Baker Thursday afternoon said the charges were untrue so far as Mr. Henry was concerned.

He says that Henry has filed 12 monthly statements, the first dated July 31, 1915, and the last June 10, 1916. He says that when Davis called at his office he showed him the last five reports that had been filed by Henry and omitted looking up the previous seven.

In the case of Dr. Brooks, the county clerk admitted that the contentions of Mr. Davis were correct. He says that Dr. Brooks filed no statements whatever until June 12. On that date he filed three statements covering six months. The first statement was numbered 1, 2 and 3, dated May 20. The second statement was numbered 4 and 5, and also dated May 20. The third statement was numbered 6, and was dated June 10. All of these statements were signed by John K. Strecker, campaign manager for Dr. Brooks, and sworn to before a notary on June 10, but they were not filed in the county clerk's office until June 12, it was stated.

Heavy penalties are prescribed by the law, which says that candidates for United States senator shall file statements on the second Saturday of each month with the county clerk of the county where the candidate resides, and with the secretary of state. It is further provided that no candidate for United States senator, chosen

BANISHED EDITOR BACK TO MEXICO

Laredo Citizens, Resenting Articles Published, Marched Him Across the Rio Grande.

Laredo, Texas, June 16.—Thirty American residents of Laredo, mostly business men, Thursday afternoon led Leo D. Walker, Mexican, and managing editor of El Progreso, a Mexican newspaper published here, into Mexico at the point of a revolver and ordered him, under penalty of death, not to return to the United States. El Progreso has recently contained editorials abusing the United States government.

The committee also notified other attaches of El Progreso to cease publication immediately. Officers had not taken cognizance of the action Thursday night.

THREE MEXICAN BANDITS TAKEN

(By Associated Press.)
Brownsville, Texas, June 16.—Three bandits in the attacking party on the border patrol at San Ignacio yesterday were captured by defactoists according to an announcement by General Ricaut, the Matamoros commander, today.

at a primary election or otherwise, shall have his name printed on the official ballot unless the statements are filed as required by law, and that any candidate who shall fail to do and perform any of the things and acts required of him under the law relating to disbursements and collections of money shall not be entitled to hold the office for which he may be elected, or, if nominated, his name shall not be placed upon the official ballot for the ensuing election.

In addition to barring a candidate who fails to comply with the provisions of the law from having his name placed on the official ballot, the law provides a punishment upon conviction of confinement in the county jail "for not less than 30 or more than 100 days, and in addition thereto may be fined not less than $200 nor more than $500."

NOMINATED BY ACCLAMATION ON FIRST BALLOT

There Were No Names Mentioned in the Convention Except Wilson and Marshall and They Were Nominated Unanimously by Acclamation—The Platform Endorses the Wilson Administration, Recounts the Things Accomplished Under Democratic Rule and Declares for Principles in Accord With the Views of the President.

St. Louis, Mo., June 16.—At 11:52 last night Woodrow Wilson and Thomas Riley Marshall were nominated by acclamation as the standard bearers of the democratic party in the first night session of the democratic national convention. No ballots were taken, the delegates simply roared "Aye" when their names were called. Because the rules committee was not ready to report, the convention adjourned at 12:30 last night to 11 this morning.

Platform Outline.

(By Associated Press.)
Coliseum, St. Louis, June 16.—After a short preamble the platform opens with the brief statement, "We endorse the Wilson administration; it speaks for itself."

In turn the platform chronicles the accomplishments within the administration, starting with the federal reserve banking system, the federal trade commission adjustment of the tariff, which is adequate for revenue under peace conditions, advancement of the parcel post, and better rights for working men.

The platform asks for the immediate development of the foreign trade of the United States, citing a merchant marine as a primary factor.

The platform condemns those persons of divided allegiance who seek to foment internal discord and strife, "for the advancement of the interest of any foreign power," and condemns specifically all alliances or combinations of individuals, "conspiring for the purpose of embarrassing the government."

Preparedness was treated briefly in a declaration for an adequate army for the protection of the nation's rights, continuous development of the navy and an adequate reserve of citizens trained to arms.

Under the head of international relations, it says the democratic party has held to the old path of neutrality and believes the United States should join in a world court to maintain inviolate the open use of the highways of the seas.

It declares for Pan-American concord and bases the Mexican policy simply on the Monroe Doctrine.

The Mexican plank also says our troops should of necessity remain in Mexico until order is restored, although the party is against intervention and subjugation.

The suffrage plank reads: "Recommend the extension of suffrage franchise to women of the country by states upon the same terms as to men."

Discussing labor, the platform declares the party's faith in the seaman's act and favors an effective federal child labor law, and the creation of a federal bureau of safety.

Ferguson Objects.

(By Associated Press.)
St. Louis, Mo., June 16.—Governor Ferguson of Texas was a member of the committee of four which submitted a minority report on the suffrage plank in the democratic platform, declaring that suffrage was a question of state sovereignty and that federal endorsement would be a violation of that honored principle of democracy.
